Wealth Window Email Performance+

Email the Wealthy... But Ask Permission First

We're pleased to report that wealthy consumers are very receptive to email marketing. We also know they respond far better if asked for their permission to allow email messaging.

These findings are based on the ALC Wealth Window Email Performance+ Program, which takes the extra first step of "permissioning" to ensure that your message is well-received by the wealthy.

Here's How it Works

ALC will email Wealth Window affluent consumers on your behalf requesting their permission to receive relevant email messages. The resulting pre-screened audiences prove much more responsive than non-permissioned campaigns because your email relationship got off on the right foot.

ALC Wealth Window Email Performance+ is setting the standard for best practices in email marketing to the Wealthy. Contact us to put the Plus into your email campaign Performance.

Success Stories

The new Wealth Window Performance+ Program is tested and proven effective in the luxury space. Many marketers already consider this strategy one of their best kept secrets.
